Community Center Renovation Bid Won by Hess Co. for $2.9 Million

by Diane Oberg

Love was in the room for the February 14 regular meeting of the Greenbelt City Council—Doug Love, that is, who presented the councilmembers and staff with flowering plants in recognition of Valentine's Day. Mayor Antoinette Bram faced a minor rebellion when Councilmember Edward Putens refused her request that he read one of the sections of agenda comments. He joked that the mayor gets paid extra to do the reading.

Otherwise, it was a relatively fast moving, noncontentious meeting as council awarded a contract for renovation of the community center, dispensed with committee reports and took positions on state legislation.

Bid Award

Council awarded the contract for renovation of the Community Center to Hess Construction of Takoma Park. The company's bid of $2.995 million was the same as that submitted by another contractor; however, Hess's bid for optional additional work was lower. The city is seeking additional state funds for the project that might allow the replacement of windows and the roof.

Interestingly, the city has rejected community development block grant funds for the project. Accepting these funds for the project would impose additional requirements on the city and contractor, such as paying wages in accordance with the federal Davis Bacon law. Companies were required to submit bids both with and without meeting these requirements. It turned out that accepting the $200,000 grant would increase the project's cost by nearly $300,000, an offer the city had to refuse.

Kangaroo Katie's

Council received Advisory Planning Board (APB) Report No. 93-8 on the proposed plan by Pepsico to convert Katie's to an "All 'n One" Restaurant comprising Taco Bell, Pizza Hut and Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurants with a drive-thru and common seating area. The APB recommended approval of the plan. The APB report notes, however, that the owners of Greenway Shopping Center say that fast food restaurants are not allowed at that location under the property covenants. The report will be considered at the February 28 regular council meeting.

State Legislation

Council unanimously agreed to support two state bills. The first, submitted by Delegate Joan Pitkin, would give the county government more say in the planning of state highway projects. The second would zone most of the Glenn Dale Hospital property as agricultural open space and place it in the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission's park system. The developed area would be used as a continuing care retirement community.

Police Bill of Rights

As recommended by the Maryland Municipal League, council went on record against proposed state legislation that would add a provision to the police officers' bill of rights that discipline against an officer could not be more severe than that recommended by a hearing board.

Hobbs doubted that the legislation would have much effect in Greenbelt, which has, he said, a "highly professional, well trained force." However, he opposed the legislation which he felt would make it difficult for a chief to take appropriate action against officers who are found to have habitually used excessive force.

Greenbrook Lake

Council received a written petition from the Greenbelt East

Advisory Committee protesting the Parks and Recreation Advisory Board's position that a trail must be established between the proposed lake site and the common areas of Greenbrook Village. The GEAC's concerns included the possible use of Greenbrook Village common areas for the trail and damage to wetlands in the area. PRAB held a public meeting on trails options for Greenbrook Lake on February 16. Council is expected to discuss the issue at the February 28 regular meeting.

Overpass Study

Council authorized the mayor to sign a memorandum of understanding, proposed by State Senator Leo Green, between the State Highway Administration (SHA), Prince Georges County and the cities of Greenbelt and Berwyn Heights to fund a pedestrian and vehicular safety study for the Greenbelt Road corridor between Eleanor Roosevelt High School and Cherrywood Lane. The cost of the study, not to exceed $16,000, would be split equally among the four participants.

The county government and the SHA have already signed the memorandum. Berwyn Heights has not and has questioned whether dividing the costs equally is fair, since much of the study area is outside of the Berwyn Heights area.

Snow Pay

Once again, council and City Manager Daniel Hobbs praised the work of the Public Works and Police Departments in dealing with the recent storms. In addition, council approved procedures for paying city staff who (See COUNCIL, page 4, col. 5)

Former Bowie Mayor Will Run for County Council

Former Bowie Mayor and Reagan and Bush administration official Audrey Scott announced on February 22 that she will run for county council in the 4th district, which includes Greenbelt. The seat is currently occupied by Richard J. Castaldi, who is ineligible to run for reelection because of a law imposing term limits on all county elected officials passed by voter referendum in the last election.

Scott's last campaign for public office was as Republican candidate for Congress in Maryland's 5th District in 1981 in a special election held to replace Rep. Gladys Noon Spellman, who was incapacitated by illness. Scott was defeated by Democrat Steny Hoyer in his first congressional campaign.

Scott was the first woman elected mayor of Bowie and held that office for three terms from 1976 to 1982 after having served on the Bowie City Council in 1975. During that time she also served as a member of the board of directors of the Metropolitan Washington Council of Governments, and was a member of the National League of Cities. She also served as president of the Maryland Municipal League, a statewide association of local elected officials, from 1977 to 1978.

Appointments

Scott was appointed by President Bush as General Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development in 1989 and served in that capacity until 1991. She joined the department in 1981 after being appointed by President Reagan to be special assistant for community planning and development and held various other appointed posts as well. She resigned from her administration post to become executive director of the National Capital Chapter of the Multiple Sclerosis Society, where she served until last fall.

Scott has won a variety of awards for her work with numerous civic and charitable organizations and for her work as a public official. She was voted Outstanding Municipal Official by the Prince Georges Municipal Association. She also received the Bess Goodman Humanitarian Award from the Multiple Sclerosis Society and was recently named a Prince Georges "Woman of Achievement."

Scott has an M.A. in Legislative Affairs from George Washington University and a B.A. in English from Tufts University. She currently resides in Bowie with her husband John and their four sons.

Local News Focuses On Greenbelt March 2

by Sandra Lange

Greenbelt will be featured in a three-part series on Channel 9 profiling historic communities in the Metropolitan area. The series will air on the 6 o'clock evening news with Maureen Bunyan on February 28, March 1 and 2. The thread that links the programs together is the strong sense of community that exists within some neighborhoods located in an urban area often characterized by people who are transient and indifferent to their surroundings. A second theme depicts the historic significance of communities beyond the White House and the Washington Monument.

The first program on February 28 will feature Garrett Park in Montgomery County, which is a small enclave of Victorian style homes where it is almost impossible not to know one's neighbors. The second program focuses on Gum Springs in Fairfax County, the first community settled by freed slaves after the Civil War, and remains somewhat isolated to this day. The third program, on March 2, spotlights Greenbelt.

Residents interviewed for the program include Betty Allen, former librarian for the Tugwell Room and Greenbelt's unofficial historian; Lucille Howell, a Greenbelt pioneer; and Lee Shields who also grew up in Greenbelt and is the current president of the Friends of the Greenbelt Museum. The Channel 9 crew filmed some segments in the Greenbelt Museum, which the producer of the program, Samara Martin-Ewing, described as "wonderful for its simplicity." Some filming was done in the News Review office.

Greenbelt is the New Deal community built by Franklin Roosevelt in 1937. Original residents were chosen by the federal government for, among other qualities, their willingness to participate in town government and develop community organizations. They did so well that at one point citizens declared a moratorium on meetings so residents could spend the Christmas holidays with their families.

Letters

Call C&P

This is about location and identity. What is your address, especially you readers who live in GHI homes, and for those of you who are married, how many adults live there? And, for that matter, who are our U.S. senators and what are their phone numbers?

To answer these questions, don't look in the C&P Telephone Company's Prince Georges County phone directory because they've got it wrong. But you can do something about it, and I suggest that you do.

The C&P directory lists your address as a number and a street, but not with the letter that distinguishes your house from the more than a score of other homes in your court. So I'm listed as being at 6 Hillside, instead of at 6-E Hillside. Ditto in style for other names I looked up, starting with my neighbors who help put the News Review together. If you want to send a letter to a GHI member and don't remember his/her address, use the competing phone books, such as the One Book Suburban or the Community Phone Book. For now. But also phone the C&P Company and tell them to list your address correctly, which after some palaver they'll promise to do in the next edition, though you might also get, as I did, a loopy "explanation" about why their computer system keeps them from doing it right.

While you're at it, ask why they list only one name—usually the husband's; doesn't the spouse rate being named? Ask and they'll promise to list her, too, next go-round.

Oh! Look in the C&P Book's blue pages (government, under U.S. Government), and you find, under Senate, only one U.S. senator—Charles Robb. Robb, of Virginia, in the Prince Georges directory? Not Sarbanes, (202) 224-4524? Not Mikulski, (202) 224-4654? C&P needs an editor. (Hint: Use these numbers on legislative issues you care about).

Gold Medals All

My husband and I have just returned from the Greenbelt Arts Center's Fifth Annual Evening with Friends. The talent was outstanding! Each year the program and entertainers get better and better. If you haven't seen it, you don't know what you've missed.

If this were Lillehammer, Norway, instead of Greenbelt, Maryland and the Winter Olympics instead of GAC's Talent Night, I would give each and every performer a gold medal.

Help the Bluebirds

People don't have to be experts to volunteer to help the Prince Georges County bird, the eastern bluebird! Adult and teen volunteers are needed to join for a few hours a day, a few days a month. Volunteers will hike a trail with bluebird nesting boxes to be checked, see all the stages of the life of a bluebird and help their population grow. Training will be provided so that people can recognize what one might find in a box.

March 5 is the date set for training individuals for monitoring bluebird boxes. The training is scheduled from 1-2:30 p.m. at Clearwater Nature Center, 11000 Thrift Road, Clinton. It's fun—join the team of "bluebirders".

Please contact Paula McNeil of Clearwater Nature Center at (301) 297-4575; TDD (301) 699-2544.

Fifty Years Ago

Casualties of WW II

by James Giese

January, February 1944 — The tragedy of war was brought to Greenbelt vividly during early 1944 with the loss of two men in combat bringing Greenbelt's total war deaths to six. Chief Pharmacist's Mate William E. Eubanks of 33-D Ridge was reported missing after the navy destroyer on which he served exploded and sank off Sandy Hook, N.J. on January 3. In February, Eubanks' death was confirmed by a telegram to his wife from Secretary of the Navy, Frank Knox. Eubanks left two children, Adele, 13 and Robert 10.

Then in February, Mrs. James Sommers of 9-M Ridge received an expected telegram on her birthday, but instead of being from her son, it was notification by the Navy Department that Seaman First Class William P. Sommers, 21, had been killed as a result of fragmentation wounds somewhere outside the continental limits of the United States. The Sommers had two other sons in uniform, Sgt. James, 22, of the U.S. Army, and Pvt. Robert of the Army Air Corps. Their fourth son, Richard, 17, hoped to enlist in the Marines upon high school graduation.

According to the Greenbelt American Legion, these two men were added to the list of men killed that included Greenbelt's first casualty, Fred Yeatts, who died in an accident in North Africa; William Swartz and Robert Williams, formerly of the maintenance staff, who died in training accidents; and Private Glen Soellner, who died of meningitis in camp.

Greenbelters were also concerned about the critical injury to Lynn Buck, 3-C Gardenway, who was injured in an airplane crash near Ocala, Fla., on January 6. Buck suffered severe head injuries, two broken ankles and a punctured kidney. The following week the paper reported that Buck, who had been a Greenbelt High School athletic star, had not responded well to surgery and remained in critical condition.

WSSC Water Fund

A new fund, in which ratepayers help ratepayers, was announced by Cortez A. White, the General Manager of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission (WSSC), recently, at the first Commission meeting of 1994. The WSSC Water Fund is designed to help needy residents who have difficulty in paying their water bills. Monies to the fund will be contributed by ratepayers. Information on the fund and how to donate to it is being sent to all ratepayers, beginning in January, along with their usual water bill.

The WSSC Water Fund was proposed by the Customer Advisory Board (CAB), a group of volunteer customers. In order to gauge ratepayer support for such a program, the WSSC surveyed its ratepayers and, of the 14,500 who responded, two-thirds were in favor of the fund. After much discussion, it was decided that the Water Fund, like the Washington Area Fuel Fund (WAF) will be administered, for the first year, by the Salvation Army. Contributors are asked to send in a separate check, made out to the WSSC Water Fund. All contributions are fully tax deductible.

The WSSC Water Fund is off to a healthy start, thanks to generous donations from two organizations with which CAB members are affiliated. Mellon Bank presented the Water Fund with a check for $400, and the Combined International Philippine American Association donated $1500. Persons interested in more information on the fund may contact the Office of Communications at (301) 206-8100.

50 Years Ago in Greenbelt World War II Experiences

by James Giese

January, February 1944—The war experiences of three Greenbelters were reported by the Greenbelt Cooperator. Jim Raynor of 9-G Parkway, a merchant mariner, was in the harbor of Algiers on an oiler when a night air raid occurred. Although not on a gun crew, he helped to man the anti-aircraft guns. He described the scene as "beautiful . . . like the Fourth of July." Axis bombers were dropping parachutes carrying incendiary bombs, while patterns were etched on the blackness by tracer bullets. Raynor had made two trips to the Middle East and was currently away at sea on another voyage.

Greenbelt newcomer Wheeler P. Lipes, a Navy warrant pharmacist, told the annual father-and-son banquet about his youth as a Boy Scout and his war experiences. Lipes had received national recognition for performing an emergency appendectomy aboard a submarine in the China Sea during the early months of the war. The remarkable tale of his amateur surgery was blazoned forth in newspapers from coast to coast and in magazines such as Esquire, Reader's Digest and Illustrated Mechanics. Lipes also appeared on the popular radio shows, "We the People" and "Cavalcade of America." Now stationed in the Washington area, Lipes, his wife and eight-year-old son, Bruce, were delighted to be in a place so cordial to children.

The paper reported that Warrant Officer William R. Blake was home on convalescent leave at 15-A Parkway. A Marine Corps aviation supply officer, Blake had contracted filariasis, a tropical disease, while serving on Funa Futi and on Tarawa for 15 days after its invasion. He told of the moonlight raids by Japanese bombers and praised the Seabees for their ability to rapidly repair the air fields. Blake was flown back to Hawaii on a Liberator bomber and flew to San Francisco first-class on a Pan-American Clipper. In California, he was interned for a while in the Oakland hospital. His wife Lucy and son Billy, Jr., remained in their Parkway apartment during his absence. Blake's sister was the wife of Greenbelt Consumer Services Manager Thomas Ricker.

The programs will feature slide presentations, hikes, nest box workshops, and trail monitoring programs. For reservations or information, call the phone number following the location of the program.

Recycling Information

by Tracy Vincent

No Caps, Please! Whether it's glass bottles or plastic jugs, leaving the caps on the container is a problem when recycling "post-consumer" material. Why? The plastic caps are made of a different plastic resin, that is incompatible for recycling. Flattening milk/water jugs will save space in the recycling bins and the collection truck. For more information about plastic recycling, call the County Office of Recycling at 925-5963.

GHI Sets Lock-out Fee; Seeks Ways to Soak Gardens

by Mary Moien

Greenbelt Homes Inc. (GHI) has announced further steps to save money. A number of budget cuts were described in a recent News Review article. At the February 7 board meeting, the Manager's Memorandum, which describes the topics for the meeting, began with a statement that each board member will receive only one copy of materials for each meeting. Additional copies will not be provided the night of the meeting. GHI can save about $84 per meeting by producing only one copy for each board and audit Committee member.

The January 27 board meeting was snowed out. The major topics for this meeting included a request from the Greenbelt Garden Club; a new lockout policy; the setting of dates for member comments on the draft bylaws; and a discussion of written GHI personnel policies.

Greenbelt Garden Club

Bob Wilson, Greenbelt Garden Club, had written to GHI to pursue the possibility of running water lines from the GHI building to the nearby gardens. The club has contacted the city and knows that it will also have to work through the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission (WSSC).

There is a tap on the outside of the GHI building and employees agreed that gardeners are using the tap to fill buckets of water for their gardens. However, to formalize this process and to allow the gardeners to use hoses would complicate matters. Gretchen Overdurf, General Manager, commented that there is a water main near the building that could be tapped into. However, the tap would cost about $900 including the WSSC permit and would allow gardeners to use hoses crossing the parking lot after business hours. To dig a trench for all-day use of hoses would be much more expensive. Director Carole Levin indicated that in Trenton, the garden clubs got free water and sometimes could tap into the fire hydrant. Bill Phelan, board member and city employee, stated that to use a fire hydrant you have to attach a portable meter which would have to be stored and passed from gardener to gardener.

It was agreed that GHI would assist the Garden Club in their search for water, but would not provide financial assistance. The board instructed Overdurf to transmit the information she had gleaned to the club, but to have the club decide which path to pursue.

Lockout Charge

Members who are locked out of their homes after normal business hours will be charged a fee for having the emergency maintenance person come to their home to let them in. Overdurf called it a typical co-op charge and good business practice. On occasion, the emergency person is called from home to a locked out member only to have to wait for a protracted time for the member to return to the home. This added time would now be charged for.

The following policy was passed: From 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. no fee will be charged to let a member into his or her house; from 6 p.m. to midnight, the fee will be $10; from midnight to 7 a.m., the fee will be $20. In addition, after a time is agreed upon to meet the member will be charged a $50 administrative fee if the employee is kept waiting more than 15 minutes. There was much discussion over this fee before it was approved.

Bylaws Meeting

The board set the meeting dates for members to present their concerns about the proposed bylaw changes. There will be two meetings, both held at GHI. The first will be March 9 at 7:30 p.m. and the other on March 20 at 2 p.m. Members will receive copies of the proposed bylaw changes and will be encouraged to submit written comments for clarity. They will be given only a limited time to speak.

Personnel Policies

The board is reviewing the personnel policies for GHI employees. Still in draft form, the changes were not available for the News Review reporter. Some of the issues discussed, however, included the right to hire and fire, sick leave, and the Family Leave Act. When the board began to discuss a few very specific but rare possibilities for employees, such as the need for extended sick leave, physical disabilities, etc., several board members stated that individual decisions should be left to the manager. The board will review the policies again at a future meeting.

Storm Effects

Overdurf described the financial effects of the storm of January 17-23. Direct maintenance costs for storm problems such as clearing courts and fixing broken pipes was $7,708. In addition, closing the office the day requested by Pepco cost $6,500. GHI received several very positive comments from members on how well GHI had handled storm problems.

While discussing the storm, someone glanced out the door and yelled that it was sleeting really hard again. The last few items were either quickly discussed or postponed. The meeting adjourned at approximately 10:15.

HealthPlus' banner celebrating the enrollment of 250,000 members in January. Headquartered in the Commerce Center, Greenbelt East, the 15-year old individual practice association (IPA) health maintenance organization serves members throughout Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia.

HealthPlus Creates Community Fund

HealthPlus of Greenbelt has established a HealthPlus Community Fund within the Prince Georges County Parks and Recreation Foundation. A formal presentation of a $30,000 check was presented to the Foundation at its annual luncheon on February 18, starting at 11:30 a.m., at the Greenbelt Marriott.

The annual fund will be administered by the Foundation to provide financial support to organizations, individuals or events that promote health, children, family or educational issues for residents of Prince Georges county.

Foundation President Don Baker was enthusiastic about the support of HealthPlus. "HealthPlus has played a vital role for more than two years in support of the Foundation accomplishing its mission."

Greenbelt's Business

Empress Software Adopts New System

Empress Software, Inc. of Golden Triangle Drive, announces that U.S. West, the Denver-based regional telecommunications provider, has signed a contract with PAGE Systems of Toronto to completely automate production of the company's white and Yellow Pages directories; the PAGE System uses the EMPRESS Relational Database Management System (RDBMS). Over the three years that it will take for full implementation of the new system, U.S. West's annual directory volume will grow from some 320 books at present to approximately 500, or more than 40 per month.

The PAGE System is a suite of database-supported applications designed to manage and automate every aspect of directory publication from advertising sales support to individual display ad composition and job tracking, to high-speed automated page layout and assembly, through to the output and complete spot-color-separated pages to any PostScript device.

Health Plus Joins National Pilot Project

HealthPlus, the HMO based in Greenbelt, is the only health plan in this region participating in the National Committee for Quality Assurance (NCQA) pilot project to establish a national Report Card for comparing health plans. The pilot project was announced this week.

The non-profit NCQA asked health plans nationally to fund and participate in the project. HealthPlus is making the investment and "stepping up to the plate", as COO Virginia Dollard explains it, because of its commitment to holding itself accountable for quality, accessibility and cost-efficiency. Its participation means, of course, that HealthPlus will be compiling its own performance data over the next year and making this public for the purpose of developing national standards for measurement of health plans.

MAD's production of "The Shadow Box" features Nina Desmond as the fun-loving Beverly and Joel Parker as the philosophical Brian, her ex-husband who is dying.

Goddard MAD Company Presents "The Shadow Box"

by Linda Savaryn

Goddard's Music and Drama (MAD) Company are presenting "The Shadow Box," a play that has won both a Tony Award and a Pulitzer Prize. The play centers on three individuals who are dying and how they and their families are trying to understand this common experience called dying. Although the play's subject may seem morose, it is not a tear-jerker. It simply discusses a subject most of us fear talking about.

That is the importance of the play. The well-acted cast does the job for us. They bring us, the audience, with them as their characters talk about their own fears and anger. In doing so, the play ironically becomes an affirmation of life.

Several Greenbelters have major roles. Nina Desmond expertly plays the colorful and fun-loving Beverly, who comes to console, in her own way, her dying ex-husband Brian, played philosophically by Joel Parker. Leslie Davies-Hilliard convincingly plays Maggie the distraught wife of another character who is dying.

With sensitive direction by Ron Wilder, this play is worth seeing.

Before the play begins, the audience is put in a relaxed mood by a cabaret of singers which includes Erica Drezek, Linda Smith, Cindy Peslen, and Jonathan Glickman. Glickman also wrote the music to one of the songs called My Father's Hands. Other songs performed include show tunes from Phantom of the Opera, The Music Man, Funny Girl, The Fantastiks, and La Cage au Folles.

Next performances are February 24-26 at 7 p.m. at the Goddard Space Flight Center's Recreation Center located off Goodluck Road. Beverages (including beer and wine), and snacks are included in the ticket price. For reservations, contact Gene Duarte at 390-6461. ("The Shadow Box" is adult drama).

IRS to Open Booths To Assist Taxpayers

Again during this year's tax filing system, Internal Revenue Service representatives will be stationed at several area shopping malls, mostly on Saturdays, to help shoppers with their annual tax chores.

Malls closest to Greenbelt will be Laurel Center Mall on Saturdays, March 12 and 26 and April 2, 11 a.m.-5 p.m. and Wheaton Plaza Mall, Saturdays, February 26, March 5, 19 and 26 and April 2 and 9, 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

IRS representatives will answer shoppers' tax questions and provide the more common tax forms and publications. When taxpayers are shopping at their favorite mall, they can stop by the IRS booth and get their tax questions answered or pick up an extra form at the same time.

As always, taxpayers can visit any of the 13 IRS offices located throughout Maryland and Washington, D.C. on weekdays, during normal business hours or can call the IRS toll-free in Maryland and the District of Columbia, at 1-800-829-1040.

Recycling Corner

Cardboard is recyclable! Paperboard and paper egg cartons too! Residents are invited to recycle these materials at the Drop-Off Center. Be sure boxes are empty and flattened (to conserve space). Occasionally the first door is locked to encourage residents to drop material into the middle or end of the container. This helps even the spread of cardboard.

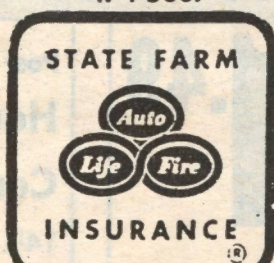

Sorry, waxed coated (milk/juice cartons and frozen food boxes) are not acceptable because of their coating. Pizza boxes are not welcomed because of the grease.

In 1993, Greenbelt residents recycled over 70,000 lbs., an increase of 42% over last year! Thank you.

Free Tax Help

Volunteers, trained by the Internal Revenue Service, are providing free tax assistance to taxpayers who are either elderly, lower-income, handicapped, non-English speaking, or members of the military at more than 200 locations throughout Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) and Tax Counseling for the Elderly (TCE) sites are usually located in churches, community centers, libraries, and other neighborhood locations.

The nearest area site is the University of Maryland at College Park. Walk-in times are Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 9 a.m.-3 p.m.

When visiting a site, bring the 1993 federal tax package received in the mail, all wage and earnings statements (Forms W-2) from employers, all interest and dividend statements (Forms 1099), a copy of last year's federal tax return, if available, the social security number of any dependent age one or older, and any other relevant information concerning income and expenses.

Volunteers are members of professional organizations, college students, homemakers and members of volunteer, community, and retiree organizations. Last year, over 2,100 VITA-TCE volunteers prepared over 37,000 returns at over 200 sites in communities throughout Maryland and the District of Columbia.

The View from Ridge Road

by Christina O'Boyle

Room to Move

By golly, I am going to hang a "For Sale" sign on the front of our house! Sleep and open space are sacred elements of my life and both are being threatened. This morning at 5 a.m. I was awakened bolt upright by a falling orchid. It must have bloomed, not had enough leeway to expand crushed in with the other 25 orchids, and crashed to the bedroom floor. There is not enough elbowroom for all of us. Something has to go. And so the sign will read "Houseplants. Cheap."

Even in the dead of winter, we are overgrown. Little by little—by hobby, by gift, by propagation—we've turned our home into a hothouse. I need all the territory I can reclaim for the next invaders: children's toys. But even as I try to detach my heartstrings from our 15 year old arrowhead vine, it looks up at me and says, "Good grief, I was there on your wedding day!" So I keep it, jammed in with the others.

The trick to selling these plants will be to water them without becoming entangled in their past, my past. The arrowhead vine is our wedding, the arrowroot and philodendron are our children's births, and the bougainvillea is Mother's Day. My Grandmother Jaggard is nearby when I feed her pink Geranium and hibiscus. Both plants grew from cuttings she nurtured from ancient plants that were her mother's. They are rangy and sparse, but the hibiscus bloomed today, too. Our gargantuan nightblooming cerise, which I had to prune viciously in October, started life with us as a single leaf from a Chicago friend. And on the one spectacular night a year the exotic plant blooms, we whisper thanks to Zelda. This must be the reason plants make us feel we're not alone.

All their lives I've provided taxi service outside to get them hearty in summer and back in before the cold. I've tried to find the right window with direct or indirect light. I've searched for pots to match their leaves, repotted them when they grew, and tried not to neglect them when life got hectic. In return, our houseplants have matured and bloomed, often with unrecognized fanfare (except for that noisy orchid this morning).

Well, I've talked myself out of the sale again. It's happened before: no sales sign goes up, nothing gets put out. We'll all just have to squeeze in and grow older together one more year.

Library Needs Help

Have interface skills? For people who long desired to be top salesman, the Prince Georges Memorial Library System can use their help now! Putting some hours in the library's bookstores or hosting in the Greenbelt Branch Art Gallery should satisfy one's need to go public. If these tasks are not appealing, how about helping adults learn to read (one-on-one) or shelving returned books?

Call the Prince Georges Voluntary Action Center at 779-9444.

Reunion Honors Coach Pete Labukas

by Andrew E. Manatos

A member of the United States House of Representatives changed his plans so that he could be there. A number of other people with busy schedules, some living in other parts of the country, also went out of their way to be with a man who has been important to their lives. He was their football coach at Washington D. C.'s Woodrow Wilson High School from 1954 to 1967. His name is Peter Labukas.

Few of those gathering on Friday, January 28 would have thought, all those decades ago, that their high school football coach's contribution to their lives would stand out as so memorable. Wilson High School was the academic super school at that time, it had a plethora of Ph.D. teachers and an extraordinary college matriculation rate. But Labukas was Vince Lombardi before Vince Lombardi. And, his players realized, as did Lombardi's, that the fear and respect he evoked did them a lot of good.

Many of the rules Labukas taught on the football field, proved valid in life even though many seemed contrary to the rules implied inside Wilson's ivy covered walls. Inside the walls great talent without great effort produced praise and results. On Labukas' field great talent without great effort rode the bench because it produced little.

Inside the school, average or mediocre talent accompanied by intense effort was mildly appreciated. On Labukas' field, like in life, even mediocre talent, when accompanied by intense effort, made one first string.

On Labukas' field, there was no chance for a makeup test, if you missed the game. Yet, anyone who later "got-it-in-gear" got another chance.

Labukas' players learned that luck could determine success or failure. It was their job to learn how to perform at their best so that, if luck smiled their way, they'd be prepared to take advantage of it.

Players were not taught to look for a world without pain. They were shown a world which included pain and taught how to perform well with it.

Labukas showed them that they had much more in them than any of them realized. They learned they could still perform, even after they were certain they could go no further.

He was as hard on them as anyone ever had been previously or was thereafter. Yet each of them look forward to this opportunity to see him again. In an unspoken way, mostly through the humorous remembrances, they wanted to thank him for what he did for them.

The man appeared before a District Court Commissioner and was held on $5,000 bond pending trial.

Two nonresident men, aged 24 and 26, were arrested and charged with possession of marijuana, possession of (drug) paraphernalia, and theft after they had failed to pay for their fare at TGI Fridays restaurant (6400 block of Capitol Drive). They had marijuana and a pipe such as is commonly used to smoke marijuana in their vehicle when police found them in the area of Cherrywood Lane and Greenbelt Road. The incident occurred around 11 p.m. on Thursday, February 17. Both men appeared before a District Court Commissioner and were released pending trial.

Around 5:30 p.m. on Thursday, February 17, a 1981 pink Nissan Maxima was reported stolen from the 9000 block of Breezewood Terrace. About two hours later, an officer on patrol saw it being driven in the 9100 block of Edmonston Road and followed it to the 6100 block of Springhill Court, at which time the driver got out of the vehicle while it was still moving and ran away. The car then hit two other vehicles. The driver was apprehended a short time later. The driver, a 15-year-old resident youth, was arrested and charged with theft and then released to his parents pending trial. Two other people were detained at the scene but then released without charge pending further investigation.

Black Marylanders On Trading Cards

What do Reggie Lewis, Dr. Benjamin Carson, Bea Gaddy, Cab Calloway, and Frank Robinson have in common? They're all from Maryland — and they're all featured on trading cards developed by the Maryland State Teachers Association. To highlight the achievements of African Americans from Maryland, the 45,000-member MSTA has developed "baseball cards" featuring 12 prominent African Americans from the state.

Modeled after trading cards featuring major league baseball players, the MSTA African American cards have photos and names of famous African Americans on one side and a few vital statistics on the other.

The Greenbelt Gardener

by Rosie Rhuburb

The first flowers of the year are finally in bloom and it is so good to see flowers again. Although not many people have these early jewels in their yards, look around and you may see some.

Near the city municipal building are planted some witch hazel bushes. The little yellow strips are a strange looking flower, but isn't it wonderful to have a bush flowering in February? And as a bonus they smell good, too.

Another early bloomer is snowdrops. These white, three petalled flowers are shaped something like little bells. The first one bloomed in my neighbor's yard earlier this month, was covered up by the sleet and then the warm weather this past weekend brought several dozen into bloom.

Winter aconite is another early blooming bulb that I've seen around town, although only in one garden. The large patch of yellow/buttercup-like flowers with little skirts of green is quite a sight. Both of these are tough enough to take a load of snow or ice.

I've never seen them but Christmas Rose, (the white flower with yellow center seen in many Christmas cards), and Lenten Rose, (same shape but in shades of green and purple), are also very early blooming flowers. It would be nice if more people would plant all of these little flowers and lighten up our dreary late winter landscape. Bulbs, such as the snowdrops, are easy to plant, carefree to maintain, provide color and increase every year.

City Notes

Public Works crews continued to concentrate on snow and ice clearing operations during the week. The supply of road salt has again been depleted. Last week's partial resupply has been used. More is on order.

Ice buildup on the Aquatic Center roof caused damage to the soffit and rain gutters. Temporary patching has been installed and repair by the builder is being arranged.

The wood barricade at the Northway ballfields was damaged by a civilian vehicle. Repairs will be made as soon as crew time is available after completion of more critical winter snow and ice storm damage repairs.

Public Works Director Carl Hirsch attended the organizational meeting for a proposed Maryland Municipal Public Works Officials Association affiliate to the Maryland Municipal League. He was elected Secretary-Treasurer.

A luncheon was held at the Public Works yard to honor retiring employees Carl Bartholow and Buck Powell. Bartholow has worked for the city for 20 years, Powell for 40.

Public Works crews removed two decaying trees between the co-op and the theater at Roosevelt Center. Replacements will be planted in season.

Crews also posted temporary parking restriction signs and installed permanent traffic sign posts along Ivy Lane.

The Greenbelt Arts Group piano was moved from a member's residence, transported to and relocated in the group's new facility in Roosevelt Center.

Repair parts have been installed on the unserviceable leaf vacuum machine. However, no currently manufactured drive shafts fit the machine and budget limits prevent the purchase of a replacement machine. Staff has made arrangements for a machine shop to fabricate the needed parts.

Fifty Years Ago Skating Spree

by James Giese

January, 1944 — Rain ended the "longest continuous spree of skating since that first winter in Greenbelt." For two weeks Greenbelters got to use all the hundreds of pairs of Christmas skates. On Sunday, January 2, frolickers took part in an ice innovation. They hitched in a long happy chain behind "one of those little one cylinder gas scooters and choo-chooed all over Greenbelt Lake."

An elderly Takoma Park man was the only serious casualty of the day when he suffered a broken arm and cuts to the head in an ice collision. He was given first aid and transported to Takoma Park Hospital.

Dear Consumer,

When times are tough and it is hard enough just paying bills, people don't need high priced service contractors taking what little is left. So I am offering you an alternative. I am a plumber who works for you. I don't work off of high profit margin, so I struggle just like you.

I do a full range of plumbing services including faucets, drains, remodeling, hot water heaters, repiping, disposals, and much more. All I ask is that you give me a call the next time you have a problem or plumbing project. I can assist you in the best way to remedy the problem, while not leaving you broke.

I am a small contractor. I have a family, and I am trying to to help the economy by giving you the most for your money

JOE'S TIP OF THE WEEK

Hello Again!

There never seems to be a dull moment here at the repair facility. After the past week's mess has somewhat melted we have to deal with the large POTHOLES that we inevitably roll into.

The type of damage that these potholes can inflict is unreal. Bent rims, broken tie rod ends, ball joints and all the other related front end components. You have to be real careful and try to avoid them as much as possible.

If you hit one of these holes and notice any variation of front end driveability, STOP; visually inspect for damage to insure that the vehicle is safe to drive. If you continue driving, and the vehicle feels different, you may have broken an inner tread ply of the tire, which can be very hazardous. A simple front end inspection should be performed, and a front end alignment may be in order. Also, tire weights can be knocked off very easily. The bad thing about these types of driveability conditions is that the vehicles that were a little worn to start with, end up with the front ends totally finished off.

Well, till next time,

Think
